"I despise you all," they said. "And I have a little surprise in store."

Chapter 7 by intellikat

"What is it?" asked the one friend.

"Ahhh... nevermind. Let's let bygones be bygones."

And so it was.

Chapter 8 by jeffyb

"Nah, let see it to the bitter end" one of the friends exclaimed, and from under his coat he pulled out a revolver. "Instead of just waiting here to die, let's play a game."

They began to play Russian roulette after a friend put a live round into the gun. He went first.

Click. No gunshot.

He passed it to the left and without hesitation he spun the revolver and pointed it to his head.

Click. No gunshot.

This continued for what seemed like an eternity. Ten minutes went buy and no one died. Then they began to talk. They kept playing the game as that talked about their lives and the things they wanted to do. It was a cherishing moment. All the men connected in a way they never thought of. Another ten minutes went by and still no one died. After some more time passed by the gun was put down and now all the friends were connected.

It wasn't their last day. The meteor that was expected to wipe out the Earth's population just missed it's mark by 4,000 kilometers. The friends came together and built an even stronger friendship than before.
